Report of 26 Feb 2026 Price at research $119.84

HOLD · WAIT FOR GUIDANCE

Hold. Oversold, but the reaction depended on guidance, not on the results.

WHY

- Extremely oversold: RSI near 20, and 62% below the all-time high.
- Two tax hits: UK online gaming duty rising from 21% to 40%, and a new US cap on deducting gambling losses.
- In 3 of the previous 4 quarters, the stock was flat or fell after results, even after big beats.

SIGNALS TO WATCH

- ☐ 2026 guidance on the UK and US tax hits
- ☐ Support around $105–$115
- ☐ Whether a beat is followed by a selloff again

3. Technical picture: deeply oversold

INDICATOR	VALUE	SIGNAL
RSI (14)	20.29	Extremely oversold
MACD	−18.33	Bearish
MACD signal	−17.68	—
MACD histogram	−0.651	Negative
SMA 20	$141.80	Price 15% below
SMA 50	$181.17	Price 34% below
SMA 200	$241.48	Price 50% below
Bollinger upper / middle / lower	$178.57 / $141.80 / $105.03	Near lower band
Overall	—	Hold

RSI near 20 is far below the usual 30 threshold, and the stock has been oversold for most of the past month, which raises the odds of a mean-reversion bounce. MACD is still deeply negative with no bullish crossover, and price sits below every major moving average, so the downtrend is intact.

News sentiment is flat: average polarity 0.05 (neutral), subjectivity 0.21 (mostly factual). Headlines mix "plummeting" with "buying opportunity".

4. Why the stock was crushed

1. UK tax hike. iGaming duty rises from 21% to 40%. Flutter estimates a $320M EBITDA headwind in 2026 in one of its most profitable markets.
2. US tax on gambling losses. The OBBBA (effective January 2026) caps loss deductions at 90% of winnings, which hurts high-volume and professional bettors and reduces handle.
3. Sector contagion. DraftKings' weak 2026 guidance dragged the whole sector down, even though FanDuel holds 47% US share.

5. Earnings reaction pattern

Warning: Flutter has tended to fall after earnings even when it beats.

QUARTER	EPS EST.	EPS ACTUAL	BEAT / MISS	STOCK MOVE
Q4 2024	$1.83	$2.94	+61% beat	+1%
Q1 2025	$1.89	$1.59	−16% miss	0%
Q2 2025	$2.19	$2.95	+35% beat	−8%
Q3 2025	$0.39	$1.64	+321% beat	−14%

In 3 of the last 4 quarters, big beats produced flat or negative moves. The market is trading forward guidance (taxes, growth), not past results.

6. Analyst view

METRIC	VALUE
Consensus	Strong Buy (22 analysts): 45% Strong Buy, 36% Buy, 18% Hold, 0% Sell
Average 12-month target	$281.45 (+135%)
Lowest / highest target	$200 (+67%) / $380 (+217%)

Notable actions: Texas Capital upgraded to Strong Buy; Canaccord $270 Buy; Bank of America $210 Neutral (cut from $250).

Bull catalysts: FanDuel's 47% US share; international diversification (UK, Italy, Australia); FanDuel Predict targeting states without legal sports betting; 21% international revenue growth; a TIKR model value of ~$436/share.

7. Short-term probabilities

SCENARIO	PROBABILITY	TRIGGER
A: Bounce (+5% to +15%)	~40%	Beat and reassuring 2026 guidance on taxes
B: Further decline (−5% to −15%)	~45%	Weak guidance, even with a beat
C: Big move (>15% either way)	~15%	Major surprise in results or guidance

For buying today: RSI ~20 is historically extreme; the stock bounced off a fresh 52-week low; analysts see 135%+ upside; revenue still growing ~31%; a relief rally could be sharp.

Against buying today: the post-earnings selloff pattern; results come after the close, so there's no same-day exit; tax headwinds are structural; MACD deeply bearish; beta 1.89; pre-market gap risk.

8. Strategic options

1. Buy before earnings. Highest risk and reward; exposed to a gap-down if guidance disappoints.
2. Wait for the after-hours reaction and buy pre-market. You may miss part of a rally but avoid the worst gap-down. Suggested for most traders.

3. Wait for the dust to settle. Look for an entry later in the week; support may sit around $105–$115 (lower Bollinger band to the 52-week low).
